Agile Practitioner | Thought Leader | Web & Embedded Developer

Agile software developer with 10+ years of success working with and leading teams to develop quality software under changing requirements. Able to rapidly utilize new, leading edge technologies. Proven track record in developing trust with customers and within teams.

Binary Noggin, Owner/Developer - St. James, MO August 2013 - Present

I work closely with customers as an Agile practitioner to improve teams and products. I believe in building the best software through an understanding of the "why" in the product. I find this "why" through constant communication and trust. Using test driven development and continuous delivery of working software that exceeds expectations and provides constant value is my priority.
